9. The following e-mail from, Murray Day, was read:
I hope this email finds you well. You may have heard that there was an attempted robbery at my house last week. I wanted to send this email to complement the Police Department. Not only did the police catch the suspects and recovered my stolen items, but I found all of the officers I dealt with to be very professional and courteous. It gives me great pride and security to know, that these folks are working hard 7/24 to protect us. If you get a chance please pass on my compliments. Thank you and best regards.
